

Good morning from the Division of Health and Disability Criminology!

We hope your summers wrapped up well! Here's news from DHDC.

1. DHDC and the Division of Life Course Criminology Sponsored Panels at ASC:

This year we are co-sponsoring two panels with the Division of Life Course Criminology at ASC. The panels are back-to-back Friday, November 14th, 2025 beginning at 9:30am in the Marquis Salon 15 - Meeting Level 2. We hope to see you there!

“Health Inequities Across the Life Course: System Contact from Youth to Old Age”

<https://tinyurl.com/dhdcldc1>

“Where Disability and the Life Course Intersect”

<https://tinyurl.com/dhdcldc2>

2. DHDC Party at ASC:

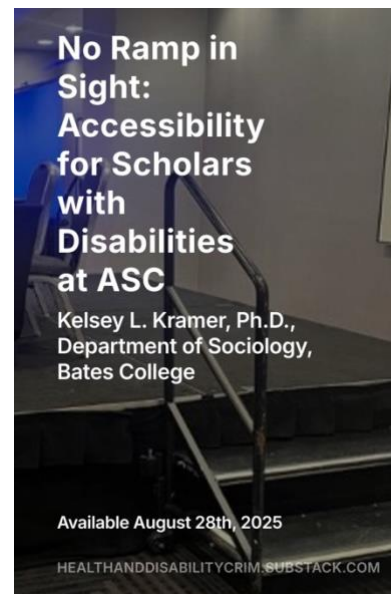

The “Celebrate the Creation of the DHDC!” party will be held Thursday, 4:30-6:30pm at the City Tap (901 9th Street NW, Washington, DC 20001). Arizona State University has kindly offered to co-host their party with us; two parties in one! Please be sure to sign up for the party when you register for the Conference (<https://asc41.org/events/asc-annual-meeting/asc-annual-meeting-registration/>). Due to costs, we'll be keeping tight to the registration list.

3. Announcements:

First, the first division Substack article, “No Ramp in Sight: Accessibility for Scholars with Disabilities at ASC” by Dr. Kelsey Kramer is available. If you are interested in writing a piece for our newsletter, please email Danielle Wallace (danielle.wallace@asu.edu).

Second, we would like to announce the publication of a new, important text in health criminology, written by Dr. Lior Gideon: Health and Corrections: A Public Health Approach to Incarcerated Populations. Below, is a brief description:

“Health and Corrections: A Public Health Approach to Incarcerated Populations” presents a new approach to the study of corrections by drawing knowledge gained from the fields of public health and corrections, and exploring the importance of this nexus. As such, the work presents a theoretical overview of relevant sociological and public health theories, while introducing basic concepts, terminology, analytical frameworks, and theories, that cover major issues in the domain of public health, public safety, and criminal justice settings. Specifically, addressing incarcerated population health needs in correctional setting, it provides an accessible and panoramic overview of the policy impact of laws on the health of incarcerated individuals. The book further investigates a variety of topics, including pre-incarceration and prison-generated trauma, chronic health issues, contagious infectious diseases, and aging in the system. The focus is on four “special-needs populations”: (1) women’s health; (2) mental illness among inmates; (3) the graying of American prisons; and (4) substance abusing inmates. Giving an organizational perspective to the topic of health and corrections, the book also considers violence, public health in the community, access to health services by marginalized individuals, and why it matters to discuss health in prisons, the living conditions in prison, health management, and the health and well-being of those engaged with incarcerated individuals. Health and Corrections aims to generate an important discussion on the nexus of health and justice, and will be a valuable resource for students, researchers, and instructors, as well as for professionals in the field of corrections, criminal justice, public health and safety."

4. Elections will be held after ASC:

Are you interested in being a part of DHDC? Shortly after ASC, we'll be holding our first annual elections. We are looking for nominees for all positions in the DHDC, and students may apply for some positions. We are looking for nominees for the following: Chair, Vice Chair, Secretary, Treasurer, Executive Counselor (2; one can be a student), Historian/Social Media Coordinator (can be a student), Newsletter Editor (can be a student). More information about the election will be coming after ASC.

5. Table Help at ASC:

Like all other divisions, we'll be hosting a table at ASC 2025 in DC so people can pop by and learn about the division. We are looking for help manning the table; would you be interested? Please sign up here and thank you! <https://www.signupgenius.com/go/5080F4FABAE29ABFC1-57424370-manning>

6. Job Postings.

The Department of Criminology and Criminal Justice at the University of South Carolina is hiring a tenure-track assistant professor in juvenile justice with a start date of August 2026. We are now accepting applications! Any questions can be directed to Christi Matcalfe at cmetcalf@mailbox.sc.edu. See <https://uscjobs.sc.edu/postings/193159>

The Department of Criminal Justice and Sociology at the University of Wyoming invites applications for one (1) tenure track position in Criminal Justice starting Fall Semester, 2026. This position will be hired at the Assistant Professor rank. Questions about the search should be directed to Dr. Katelyn Golladay (kgollada@uwyo.edu). Review of applications will begin October 3rd, 2025, and continue until the position is filled. See https://asc41.org/wp-content/uploads/position_ad_uwyo_0925.pdf.